

José Gouveia

Lisbon, Portugal

LinkedIn:

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/gouveia005/>

Email:

jmgouveia05@duck.com

Hard Skills

SEO & AEO Optimization

Part-time at Wallid

SAP S/4 HANA

SAP certificated

Excel Advanced Level

Multiple courses

Data Science Foundations

DSPA

Career Essentials in Gen AI

Microsoft certificate

Ethics in the AI world

NASBA certificated

Emotional Intelligence, Ethics and Resilience

PMI Certificated

Efficient and Effective Communication

Communication, voice, and Speech course

C1 Level

English

Mother language

Portuguese

First Kyu and an ex-international competitor

Karate

About me

I am a proactive, motivated, and perfectionist entrepreneur who continually seeks to challenge myself and create value while fostering a constant desire to learn. I see knowledge as something only valuable when shared and received from others.

Background

Wallid – Content optimization specialist (Ongoing)

As a fully remote worker, I manage the entire company blog. My responsibilities include planning and publishing articles and designing related product pages. Through consistent collaboration with language learning models (LLMs) to enhance my results, I have developed strong creative and analytical thinking skills.

In just four months, I doubled the daily clicks and impressions, improved the AI workflow through prompt engineering, and delivered high-quality work while operating independently. - <https://wallid.co/blog>

TEDxNOVA 2025 Marketing team leader (Ongoing)

I am responsible for tracking projects assigned to the marketing team I belong to, and for serving as the bridge between the Lead organizer team and mine. Being in this position enabled me to develop skills in communication, time management, event promotion, data analysis, and design, among others.

Nova IMS Bachelor's in Information Management (July – 2026)

Third-year student with an average of 16.5. During this course focused on the interpretability of valuable data insights, I developed skills in data preprocessing and analysis, statistics, and teamwork, among others, with my favorite subjects being those related to algebra or pitching/selling skills.

UBUNTU Leaders Academy – O projeto (February – 2022)

“I am because you are”, the meaning of the word UBUNTU. Over a full week, I participated in talks, lessons, and activities on what it means to be a leader: working together with our team, ensuring everyone can show their true potential, and helping them overcome their challenges.

Student Mentor (June – 2023)

For the full school year, I supported a younger colleague in his learning (10th grade at the time). My responsibilities involved distilling complex classroom content into clear, actionable information that could be used to solve exercises in both homework and exam environments. Additionally, it was my responsibility to address things lightly and in a way that would capture his attention.